

Paul Brown joins Collaborative Aggregates LLC Steve Wallace, v.p. sales for Collaborative Aggregates LLC is pleased to announce the hire of Paul Brown to his sales team. Paul Brown joins as the technical sales manager – Massachusetts & Northeast U.S. reporting to Steve.

Collaborative Aggregates LLC manufactures, markets and sells construction products and infrastructure materials formulated by the Warner Babcock Institute for Green Chemistry. The first product launched in June 2015 is Delta S, a plant based liquid utilized as an asphalt rejuvenator and as a warm mix asphalt chemistry.

Paul Brown is introducing the company and the Delta S product to the road & bridge community of the U.S. Northeast region. Paul works from a home office in Massachusetts.

Brown has over 40 years work experience with all the technical aspects of asphalt pavement construction, maintenance and rehabilitation. Paul Brown's extensive marketing and sales professional career with asphalt pavement related contractors, manufacturers and distributors is centered in the Northeast region. Paul regularly trains municipal public works and state transportation personnel on the topics of pavement management, pavement preservation and winter operations through his private consulting company called Roadteck. Paul Brown enjoys a national reputation as an expert in snow & ice control technologies and equipment. He comes to Collaborative Aggregates LLC from the Massachusetts DOT where he served as a Highway Division winter operations resource out of the Boston headquarters and in District 1 Lenox for over a decade. Paul is retired from the Massachusetts DOT and is working full time for Collaborative Aggregates LLC in addition to the training.
